RADICAL JUNTICE. When Beaumont was chief of police in Memphis, and the State of Tennessee was under Radical rule, Democratic negroes were abused, kicked and cuffed about like dogs. The newspaper files show how often Democratic negroes and most shamefully and brutally punished. most shamefully and brutally punished.

There are now Democratic negroes in lam. If the laborers of the northern bionordering an election in the fourth crime of voting the Democratic ticket. The negroes who perpetrated these out arrogate, they would find themselves without employen and connected by United States officials, but when white men, Democrate, at the election in August last kindly intimated to the negro than the same time of the sand perpetual to the historic to the Democratic ticket, they are indicted, arrested and persecuted by carpeting officials, According to Radical tasory and practic, the right to vote the Democratic ticket are not need to the ment of the most value of the right conferred on the negro by the fifteenth sensition, the right to vote the Democratic ticket are not passed to protect Democratic ticket are not passed to protect Democratic ticket. The negroes who contains the part of the negroes of the south are protected to a negro to the past of the negroes of the south are not need to the race for voting a Democratic ticket. The negroes who committed this ourrange, this violation of the enforcement act have not been arrosed. The social condition of the races in have been led to believe that the negroes, if not really in danger of being butchered in cold blood, are at least looked down upon and maltreated by the white. It cannot be dealed that many of the white planters firmly believe that the blacks are in every respect an inferior race, but that they are badly treated on that account is not true. I have been in almost every part of the State—in cities and villages, and on remote plantations—and I firmly believe more plantations—and I firmly believe that the formace of the Chattanooga iron company, at Rockwood, at Pittsburg, the control of the formace of the Chattanooga iron company, at Rockwood, at Pittsburg, the control of the formace of the Chattanooga iron company, at Rockwood, at Pittsburg, the colonel Deloach's instruction, and thus defeat these ignorant negro aspirants who can neither read nor pitter. This surgestion is generally rejected, so far as I am informed, the people being just out of a political excitement preference to the formace of the Chattanooga iron on a fair ballot than to bow submissively to Colonel Deloach's wishes. Mr. John M. The following are that the black men and women of Alassma are generally better fed and enjoy more freedom of action than any class total weight of materials per ton of pig. That they are more their own masters.

That they are more their own masters. That they are more their own masters than people of the same class at the north is not to be disputed. It can, without exaggeration, be said that they come and go as they please. In the midst of cotton picking I have known handreds of them to leave their work and go miles on foot to attend a political meeting, not returning for one and ameting, not returning for one and ameting as meltines two days. Would they have sometimes two days. Would they have dared do this in New York or any of the New England States? They are not always well clothed, it is true, but the snow never falls here, and lee is a curi

This was indeed snow never falls here, and ice is a curineily. As stated above, they are exceedingly well fed. Commeal and bacon are given to them in abundance by their employers, and they are not slow in providing themselves with the fish and game which abound. Many persons will be surprised to hear that many of the negro laborers cherish the belief that they are in reality their own masters and that they are at liberty to work or not, as it suits their convenience or inclination. This feeling is, no doubt, to be attributed to the peculiar system under which they work, and the novel relation which exists between master and servant. As already explained in a former letter, ween master and servant. As allowed was regulated in a former letter, of the upstart Spencer. This system is carried out in various ways. In some cases the land-owner gives the negro one-fourth of the crop he cultivates, and feeds and clothes him. Another plan is thought that General Morgan, who is feeds and clothes him. Another plan is to let the laborer have one-third of the
